

Education, Community and Democracy

Merrill Cultural Center, UC Santa Cruz

Wed. April 5, 2006

4:30-6:30 PM

Symposium is followed by a light reception.

The event is free and open to the public.

Join the Education Department and the Center for Justice, Tolerance and Community (CJTC) in a symposium that explores the nexus of schools, communities, and democracy. The presenters will examine ways in which educational/school reform in low-income, culturally and linguistically diverse communities can be integrated with other initiatives designed to empower those communities, not only strengthening educational achievement but building bases of power to shape the communities and larger social context.

Presenters:

Pia Wong, California State University, Sacramento

Gustavo Fischman, Arizona State University

Luis Gandin, Federal University of Rio Grande do Sul, Porto Alegre, Brazil

Pauline Lipman, DePaul University

With commentary by local education and community leaders

Co-sponsored by the Education Department and the Center for Justice, Tolerance, and Community
University of California, Santa Cruz

A special thanks to the Kellogg foundation whose commitment to community building has supported the CJTC in organizing this event.
For more information and disability-related concerns please call the Education Department at 831.459.5631.