April 22, 2002

Publications

Manuel Pastor

Pastor was also asked by the Modesto-based Great Valley Center to author the centerpiece essay for their new report, "The State of the Great Central Valley of California." The center supports the economic, social, and environmental well-being of California's Central Valley. Pastor's essay is titled, "Why Measure a Region's Civic and Social Health?"

Bruce Levine

"Conservatism, Nativism, and Slavery: Thomas R. Whitney and the Origins of the Know Nothing Party," by Bruce Levine, professor of history, was the cover essay in the September 2001 issue of the Journal of American History, the flagship journal of historical scholarship about the United States. Levine's essay dealt with connections among various facets of pre-Civil War American politics, including slavery, capitalism, and attitudes toward the immigrants of that era.

Amelie Hastie

Amelie Hastie, assistant professor of film and digital media, has published an article in Camera Obscura entitled "History in Miniature: Colleen Moore's Dollhouse and Historical Recollection."

John Mock

Lecturer in Hindi John Mock has cowritten three travel guides published by Lonely Planet Publications: Trekking in the Karakoram and Hindukush, Hiking in the USA, and Hiking in the Sierra Nevada.

Return to Front Page

---

Maintained by: pioweb@cats.ucsc.edu