6:00pm-9:00pm

College 9 & 10 Multipurpose Room, UC Santa Cruz

Featuring three of the most important leaders on health policy for Latinas

Xóchitl Castañeda

Project Director of the California-Mexico Health Initiative, will offer a perspective on the relationship between Mexican migration and HIV/AIDS transmission for women on both sides of the border.

Barbara Garcia

Deputy Director of Health for San Francisco, will speak on health services and the role of Latino/a-serving agencies, drawing on her previous work as Director of Salud Para La Gente in the Pajaro Valley.

Juanita Quintero

Patient advocate and activist for health issues in the Bay Area. Truly a pioneer in the Latino community, Juanita will speak on her outreach work around HIV/AIDS.
